Just a little reminder, can all fans please wait for a stoppage in play before leaving your seat during games. First of all for your own safety as the puck can fly out the rink at any time so please keep your eye on it. Also in respect of other fans who are trying to watch the game.

If you do leave your seat during a break in play please remain at the bottom of the stairs for a stoppage in play before returning. The stewards will be there to advise you of this.

Ice Hockey is promoted as a family sport and here at Edinburgh Capitals this means so much to us as an organisation. Please be respectful of others at all times.

Our aim is for everyone to come to a game and go home feeling they have been entertained both on and off the ice.

We appreciate each and every one of you supporters and we will continue to try make your match night experience as enjoyable as possible.

Northern League Champions 2023-24

SNL Play Off Champions 2023-2024

Northern Challenge Cup 2024

It's been a while since we had a 'home' game and the Capitals have certainly given us much to talk about during the period of time since Dundee Rockets were here.

Briefly, we have won at Dundee, North Ayr and against Paisley here at Murrayfield in what was Pirates 'home game'. That only tells a half story since we have beaten all the teams challenging for the league title since the start of the league season. With no disrespect we look to have, on paper, perhaps slightly easier games coming up but, having said that we also have to face Kestrels at Kirkcaldy on Saturday night (6pm face off) Warriors and Rockets before the years end.

Despite our run of wins we are not taking things for granted and Steven will keep the guys working hard and there will be no complacency amongst the players and off ice staff.

The Paisley game saw the guy's play the best hockey of the season so far in the middle and third periods with some truly cracking goals to top off the build up play. Everyone worked hard to ensure Ben got his second shut out of the season.

Two weeks ago we Travelled to Aberdeen to face the Lynx and what a performance the guys put in to bring the points back to Murrayfield and retain their league leading position after ten games. The guys were in Dumfries on Sunday and kept the run going in one of Steven's former stomping grounds. To be unbeaten and holding the top place the club has to be heartily congratulated as all the expected challengers for the league title have been met and beaten twice, apart from Whitley who we have met once. Tonight we welcome North Ayrshire Wild for our second leg game in the Scottish Cup.

After next Saturday's visit to Kirkcaldy we have a run of five home games to look forward to.

No one is taking anything for granted as there is still a whole lot of hockey to be played and anything can happen on any given night but we are in a great place right now.

It's unfair to the others but one player has stood out in the past few games, take a bow Conner McNulty who has found a goal scoring streak with 7 goals in 3 games.

Finally, I have been sitting in block 8 in the front two rows during the middle periods during the past few games. 'The Ladies' sitting there are long term fans and are some of the most vocal in the arena. As of now they are to be known as the 'Crazy Crew'. Take a bow ladies.

Sean Stewart couldn't have picked a better time to open his goal account for the Capitals than against the Rockets. It was a well deserved MoM award after being involved in all four goals on the night.

Sean Cochrane was voted by the Capitals players as 'Lion of the Game' after the win against Dundee here.

Scott Geddes was voted by the Capitals players as 'Lion of the Game' at Dundee and he gently reminded us how many league points we had taken from the reigning Champions.

Ever wanted to skate out onto the ice through the Lion tunnel with the team?

Edinburgh Capitals are excited to offer a mascot package for the 2025-2026 SNL campaign, which will allow you to meet the team behind the scenes and take to the ice before the opening Face-Off. The package costs £100 and mascots can be of any age. This will cover entry to the game for 1 adult and 1 child.

As a mascot, you and one guest will enjoy the pre-game experience here at Murrayfield Ice Arena with a chance to meet the players and grab photos and autographs. You will then get ready to take to the ice with the Edinburgh Capitals. You will also be able to watch the team warm up from the Capitals bench (helmet and face guard must be worn and can be provided).

As the lights go down and the atmosphere rises, you will skate out with the player of your choice for the opening Face-Off, and photos will be taken as you come through the Caps tunnel. You will then head into the huddle for fist bumps as the boys get ready for game time. Your name will also be announced to the crowd, and your photos and experience will be posted on our club's social media pages.

All mascots and guests must wear a helmet (with a face guard, if under 21). Helmets can be provided. If you are doing a walk-on package, no kit is required.

This will again be on a first-come, first-served basis, and packages are now available to purchase through the Capitals Fanbase App for each home game.

Why Are Ice Hockey Goalies So Weird?

Ice hockey is a sport that is known for its unique characteristics, such as its fast-paced nature and physicality. However, there is one position on the ice that stands out from the rest: the goalie. Ice hockey goalies have always been a source of curiosity and amusement for fans and spectators alike. But have you ever wondered why these players are so different from the rest of the team?

From their equipment to their unique skills, ice hockey goalies have a distinct persona that sets them apart from other players. What makes them so weird? To understand why ice hockey goalies are the way they are, we need to dive deeper into their history, unique responsibilities, and physical demands. If you've ever watched a game of ice hockey, you may have noticed something peculiar about the goalies. They seem to have a certain quirkiness that sets them apart from the other players on the ice. But have you ever wondered why that is?

First, it's important to understand that goalies are an essential part of the game. They are responsible for defending their team's goal and preventing the other team from scoring. But what makes this position so distinctive? For one, they wear a lot of gear, including a helmet with a cage, leg pads, and a chest protector. This equipment can make them look a bit like a gladiator on the ice.

Another aspect of being an ice hockey goalie that sets them apart is the amount of pressure that comes with the job. Not only do they have to be quick on their feet and have great hand-eye coordination, but they also have to have the mental toughness to handle the stress of the position. With all eyes on them, they are the last line of defence for their team.

But why do they seem so odd or even eccentric? Some say it's the result of spending so much time in their own little world during games and practices, while others believe it's because of the unique demands of the position. Whatever the reason, there's no denying that ice hockey goalies are a fascinating and integral part of the game.

The Fascinating World of Ice Hockey Goalies

1. Puck Stopping – The primary role of a goaltender is to stop the opposing team from scoring goals. Goalies use their specialized gear and exceptional reflexes to block shots, cover rebounds, and cut down angles.

2 Equipment – Unlike other players on the ice, goalies wear a lot of protective gear to guard themselves from flying pucks and collisions. The gear also enhances their abilities, such as leg pads that allow them to slide and cover more area in the crease.

3.Unique Skills – Ice hockey goalies require a combination of physical and mental abilities that are unique to their position. They need to have quick reflexes, excellent hand-eye coordination, and the ability to read plays to anticipate shots.

Aside from stopping pucks, goalies are also responsible for playing the puck and communicating with their teammates. They need to be able to move quickly and confidently while wearing their bulky gear. With so much going on, it's no wonder why ice hockey goalies have become such a unique and fascinating aspect of the sport.

Why Are Ice Hockey Goalies So Different From Other Players?

Ice hockey goalies are undeniably the most unique players on the team. Their gear, techniques, and responsibilities set them apart from their teammates, and even other athletes. What makes them so different?

Protective gear: Goalies are the only players who wear significant padding and protective gear, which allows them to stop hard, fast-moving pucks without getting seriously injured.

Specialized techniques: Goalies are trained in specific techniques, such as the butterfly, the poke check, and the glove save, that other players don't use.

Exclusive responsibilities: The primary job of a goalie is to keep the puck out of the net, which requires intense focus and quick reactions. This is a very different role than that of a forward or defenseman, who are responsible for scoring and defending, respectively.

Mental fortitude: Goalies need to be mentally tough to handle the pressure and stress of the position. They have to make split-second decisions, often with the game on the line, and handle the pressure of knowing that one mistake could cost the team the game.

Unique personalities: Many goalies are known for having eccentric personalities, and some might even be considered a little weird. But this unique mindset is often what allows them to thrive in such a high-pressure position. Overall, ice hockey goalies are a unique breed of athlete, with a distinct set of skills, gear, and responsibilities that set them apart from the rest of the team.

But it's these differences that make them so fascinating to watch, and so important to the success of their team.

A to H of Hockey Terms

Assist

Attributed to up to two players of the scoring team who shot, passed, or deflected the puck towards the scoring teammate.

Blocker

The rectangular pad that a goaltender wears on the stick-holding hand, sometimes also called a waffle pad

Boarding

Checking a defenceless player and causing them to violently impact the boards, an illegal action which incurs a penalty

Body Check

Use of the hip or body to hit an opponent, with the intention of pinning them against the boards, knocking them down to the ice, or otherwise disrupting their ability to control the puck. In men's ice hockey, body checking is a legal action in most contexts but may be penalized if performed excessively or unnecessarily or if it interferes with a player who does not control the puck.

Butt-ending

The act of jabbing an opponent with the knob end of a hockey stick, an illegal action which incurs a major penalty plus a game misconduct penalty

Charging

The act of taking more than three strides or leaving the ground in order to deliver a body check, an illegal action which incurs a penalty.

Check to the head

A hit in which the primary contact is made with an opponent's head, which in the NHL is an illegal action which incurs a major or match penalty if such a hit is made from a lateral or blind side position. In other leagues and organizations, any check to the head can be a minor or major penalty, often including an automatic misconduct or game misconduct penalty.

Checking from behind

The act of hitting an opponent from the back when they are unaware the hit is coming, an illegal action which incurs a penalty

Clipping

Hitting an opponent below the knees, an illegal action which incurs a penalty.

Coincidental penalties

The situation that occurs when both teams are assessed an equal number of penalties at the same time, often on the same play or incident, though not necessarily for the same total amount of penalty time. Coincidental penalties do not go on the game scoreboard.

Cross-checking

The act of checking an opponent with the shaft of the stick held in both hands, an illegal action which incurs a penalty.

Elbowing

The act of using an extended elbow or forearm to make contact with an opponent, an illegal action which incurs a penalty.

Five-hole

The gap between a goaltender's legs, or a goal scored when the puck passes through this gap and into the goal.

Freezing the puck

The act by which the goaltender stops and traps the puck in his glove or under his body so that it cannot be played.

Game misconduct

A type of penalty that results in a player being permanently ejected from the game. For statistical purposes, a player receiving a game misconduct is often credited with 10 or 20 penalty minutes.

Gross misconduct

A game misconduct penalty for gross unsportsmanlike conduct when a player or coach makes a travesty of the game.

High sticking

1. The act of hitting a player in the head or shoulders with a stick, an illegal action which incurs a penalty: usually a single minor if no blood is drawn, and a double minor if blood is drawn.¹
2. Contacting the puck with a stick that is raised above the shoulders, an illegal action. If the puck is subsequently contacted again by the offending player or a teammate before an opponent touches it, the play is blown dead. A goal scored as a result of a puck being contacted by an attacking player's stick raised above the crossbar height shall be disallowed.

Hip check

A body check in which a forceful thrust from the hip is used to knock an opponent against the boards or to the ice.

Holding

The act of impeding an opponent by grabbing onto them, an illegal action which incurs a penalty.

Hooking

The act of impeding an opponent by placing the blade of a stick into their body, an illegal action which incurs a penalty.

All Together Now

17/11/2025

The Board of Directors from Ice Hockey UK, England Ice Hockey and Scottish Ice Hockey, have all unanimously agreed to propose to their respective memberships, the merger of the sport under a single national governing body for England, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales

Under the leadership of the respective Chairs – Clifton Wrottesley (IHUK), Duncan Hough (EIH) and John Colley (SIH), alongside Henry Staelens, the first Chief Executive Officer appointed within the sport – IHUK, EIH and SIH have been working to establish a way to work collaboratively, share resources to grow the game and move ice hockey forward in the UK

Through consultation with UK Sport and home nation sports councils, alongside cross-Board collaboration, all parties deemed that merging under one banner would break new ground in the sport for the betterment of the players, clubs, coaches, officials and volunteers who give so much week in, week out.

Henry Staelens, Chief Executive Officer at Ice Hockey UK and England Ice Hockey, commented, "Ice hockey is a sleeping giant in the UK sports market, and has the opportunity to capitalise on new opportunities for growth that a merger would bring. Together as one single governing body, the sport can focus on growth of its player base, bring a member-centric approach to the community, deliver new revenue streams to reinvest back into the sport and all under a professional full-time Executive Team delivering nationwide."

Ice Hockey UK, England Ice Hockey and Scottish Ice Hockey will call an Extraordinary General Meeting for their respective organisations on Wednesday 17 December 2025, where the Boards will encourage members to vote in favour of merging the bodies. Formal notice, voting papers and full details will be issued to voting members of the organisations in due course.

In advance of the vote, England Ice Hockey and Scottish Ice Hockey will host a number of meetings with key stakeholders and groups across the sport, to ensure the merger delivers improvement and certainty in relation to their requirements.

Additionally, a drop-in Q&A session led by Henry Staelens and Grant King (Chief Operating Officer, IHUK & EIH) will be held on 26 November 2025 via Microsoft Teams, which will be open to all registered voting members of EIH and SIH. Details on how to register and attend will be circulated shortly.

Full information and updates on the proposed merger will be shared across England Ice Hockey and Scottish Ice Hockey channels in the coming weeks. Members are welcome to submit any questions or comments about the merger in advance via media@scottishicehockey.co.uk for Scotland. England Ice Hockey and Scottish Ice Hockey staff will ensure all queries are addressed during the sessions and in the follow-up materials

Staelens concluded, "We look forward to continuing constructive discussions with members of EIH and SIH over the coming weeks as we work to build a single, stronger, and more member-focused national governing body for ice hockey in the UK."

IIHF Cup of Nations

The International Ice Hockey Federation (IIHF) has officially unveiled the European Cup of Nations, a groundbreaking new competition framework designed to transform international breaks into a platform for meaningful, competitive national team games. As a core initiative under the IIHF's ICE26 strategic plan, this new tournament series marks a major step forward for the development of the sport across Europe.

The inaugural season will take place during the traditional November, December, and February international breaks, with 18 national teams competing in three - or four-team groups across the continent.

Participating countries:

Germany, Slovakia, Latvia, Norway, Denmark, Austria, Hungary, Poland, France, Slovenia, Great Britain, Italy, Netherlands, Lithuania, Estonia, Spain, Romania and Ukraine.

All games will be broadcast live on IIHF TV, offering fans around the world access to top-tier international hockey outside of the annual World Championships. "This is a huge step for European hockey," said Luc Tardif, IIHF President. "For years, our Member National Associations have asked for a framework that brings consistency and purpose to national team breaks. With the European Cup of Nations, we're finally delivering a product that has the potential to grow the game - competitively and commercially - across the region."

The IIHF will continue to build the European Cup of Nations together with Member National Associations (MNAs), with the long-term goal of developing a sustainable, marketable product that supports both player development and fan engagement between major tournaments.

"This is a major step forward for European ice hockey," said Zsuzsanna Kolbenheyer, President of the Hungarian Ice Hockey Federation. "Our players need meaningful competition to grow, and this platform provides exactly that - within a stable, forward-looking framework."

"With the European Cup of Nations, we're building not just a tournament, but a foundation for long-term value," added Marta Zawadzka, Vice President of the Polish Ice Hockey Federation. "For federations, fans, and partners, it's an exciting new chapter for the international game."

For full schedules, group breakdowns, and broadcast information, follow live coverage on IIHF TV.
